

Art World

Must-See Art Guide: San Francisco

This month's guide features Claudia Wieser, Wayne Thiebaud, Rodrigo Cass, and more.

artnet News, January 16, 2019

Installation view of Claudia Wieser: Forum, 2019. Courtesy of Jessica Silverman Gallery.

There's a fog descending on San Francisco—and it's not the usual one sitting below the Golden Gate Bridge. It's the annual FOG Design+Art fair, which opens in the bay area city this week, alongside UNTITLED, San Francisco. With roughly 110 galleries participating in one or the other, there's plenty to see on the city's northern coast, where both fairs will take place.

However, there's a lot to see elsewhere, too, as galleries all around the area mount some of their best shows of the year. Should you find yourself in the Fog City with an appetite for art, here are a few must-see exhibitions.

Installation view of Rodrigo Cass: figures, gestures and passages, 2019. Courtesy of Anthony Meier Fine Arts.

Exhibition: Rodrigo Cass: figures, gestures and passages

When: January 15 ð February 19, 2019

Where: Anthony Meier Fine Arts, 1969 California Street, San Francisco

Follow artnet News on Facebook:

Want to stay ahead of the art world? Subscribe to our newsletter to get the breaking news, eye-opening interviews, and incisive critical takes that drive the conversation forward.

SHARE

Article topics

Art Fairs

artnet News

SIGN UP TO OUR DAILY NEWSLETTER

The best of artnet news in your inbox